

BRON CARDWRIGHT

Character-Driven Card Magic for Renaissance Festivals & Live Events

Bron Cardwright is a character-driven card magician blending old-world charm, sharp wit, and skilled cardcraft into interactive performances designed for Renaissance festivals and live events. Presented as a wandering historian and reluctant sorcerer, Bron invites audiences into a playful world where cards become characters, stories unfold through magic, and humor keeps the experience light, accessible, and engaging.

WHAT TO EXPECT

- Interactive card magic presented in a Renaissance-appropriate style
- Strong audience engagement without loud spectacle or modern flash
- Family-friendly humor with broad appeal
- Performances designed to draw and hold crowds
- Minimal technical requirements and high adaptability

PERFORMANCE FORMATS

Walk-Up Festival Magic: Flexible, engaging performances designed to stop foot traffic, build crowds, and create shared moments of astonishment in busy fair environments.

Stage Shows: Structured performances combining card magic, storytelling, and audience participation, scaled for festival stages and scheduled time slots.

PERFORMANCE PHILOSOPHY

Bron's performances emphasize connection, timing, and theatrical presentation. The magic supports the story, the character supports the audience, and humor keeps the experience welcoming and memorable. Each performance is designed to feel natural within a Renaissance setting while remaining clear and engaging for modern audiences.
